Self Driven Learning

Put learners incharge of their own learning experience

Shift from internal programs aimed at developing people to innovative platforms that enable people to develop themselves.

Compelling and Dynamic Learning Experience for Your Learners

Today

Learning is a series of corporate programs built around L&D-designed content and experts

L&D experts push out training, identifying required courses for employees based on roles

The focus is on internal training sanctioned by the company

Tomorrow

Learning is an "environment" and an "experience"

Employees pull learning, accessing resources from inside and outside of the company

External training is available from any digital content source

The future

Employees learn how to learn through facilitation and coaching

Learning organizations play a supporting role in what a person learns
